Before + after | Design evolution

BEFORE

The existing interior relied on stronger color contrast and more visual elements. The renovation intentionally simplified the palette and material hierarchy.

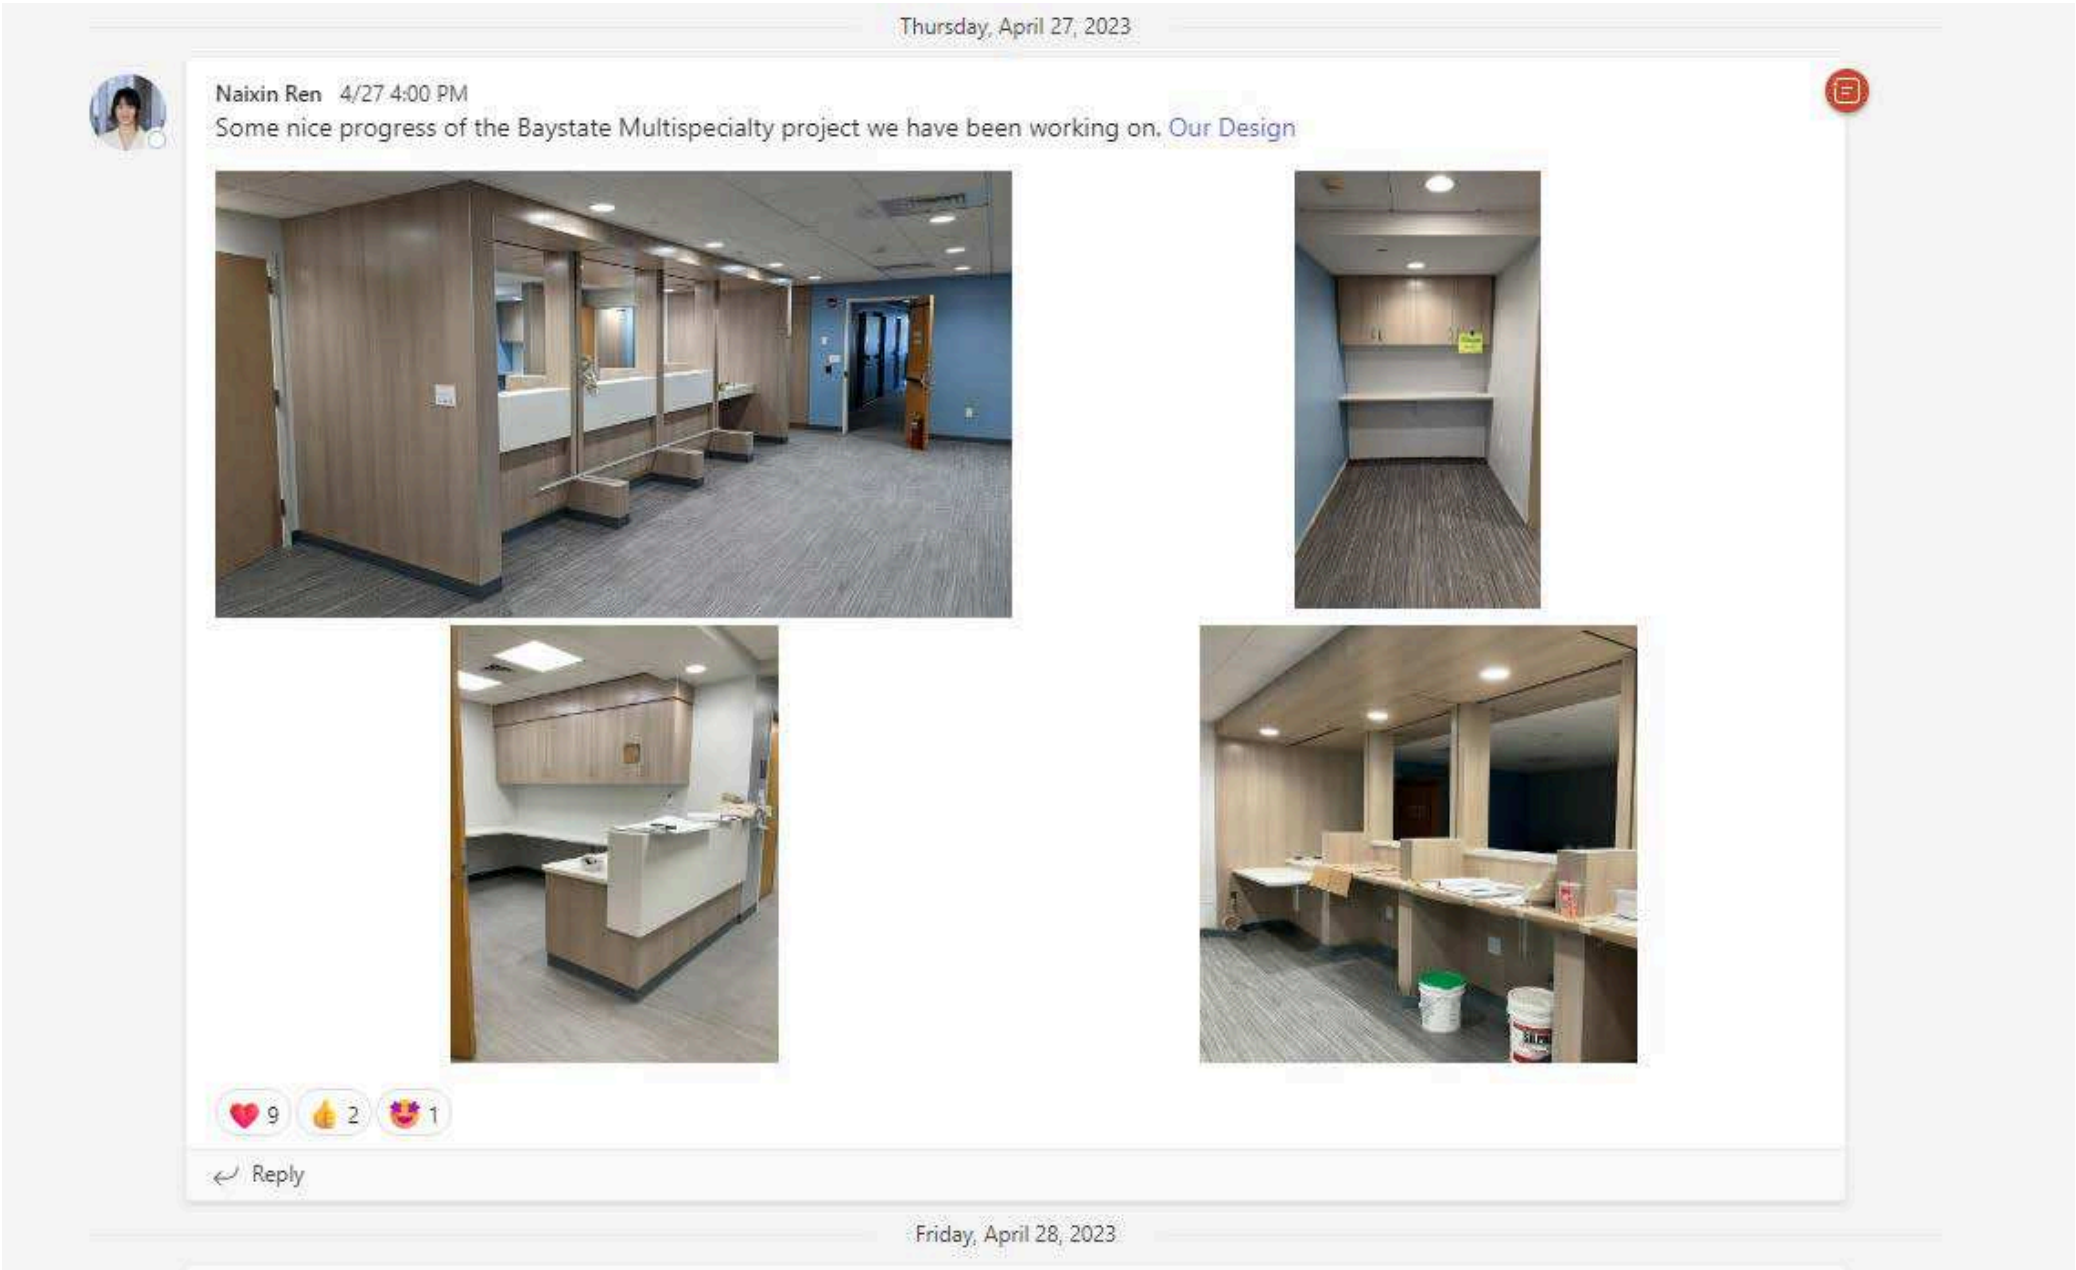

AFTER

The completed space feels significantly more modern and timeless. Warm woodgrain, texture and subtle pattern soften the cooler neutral and blue-gray palette.

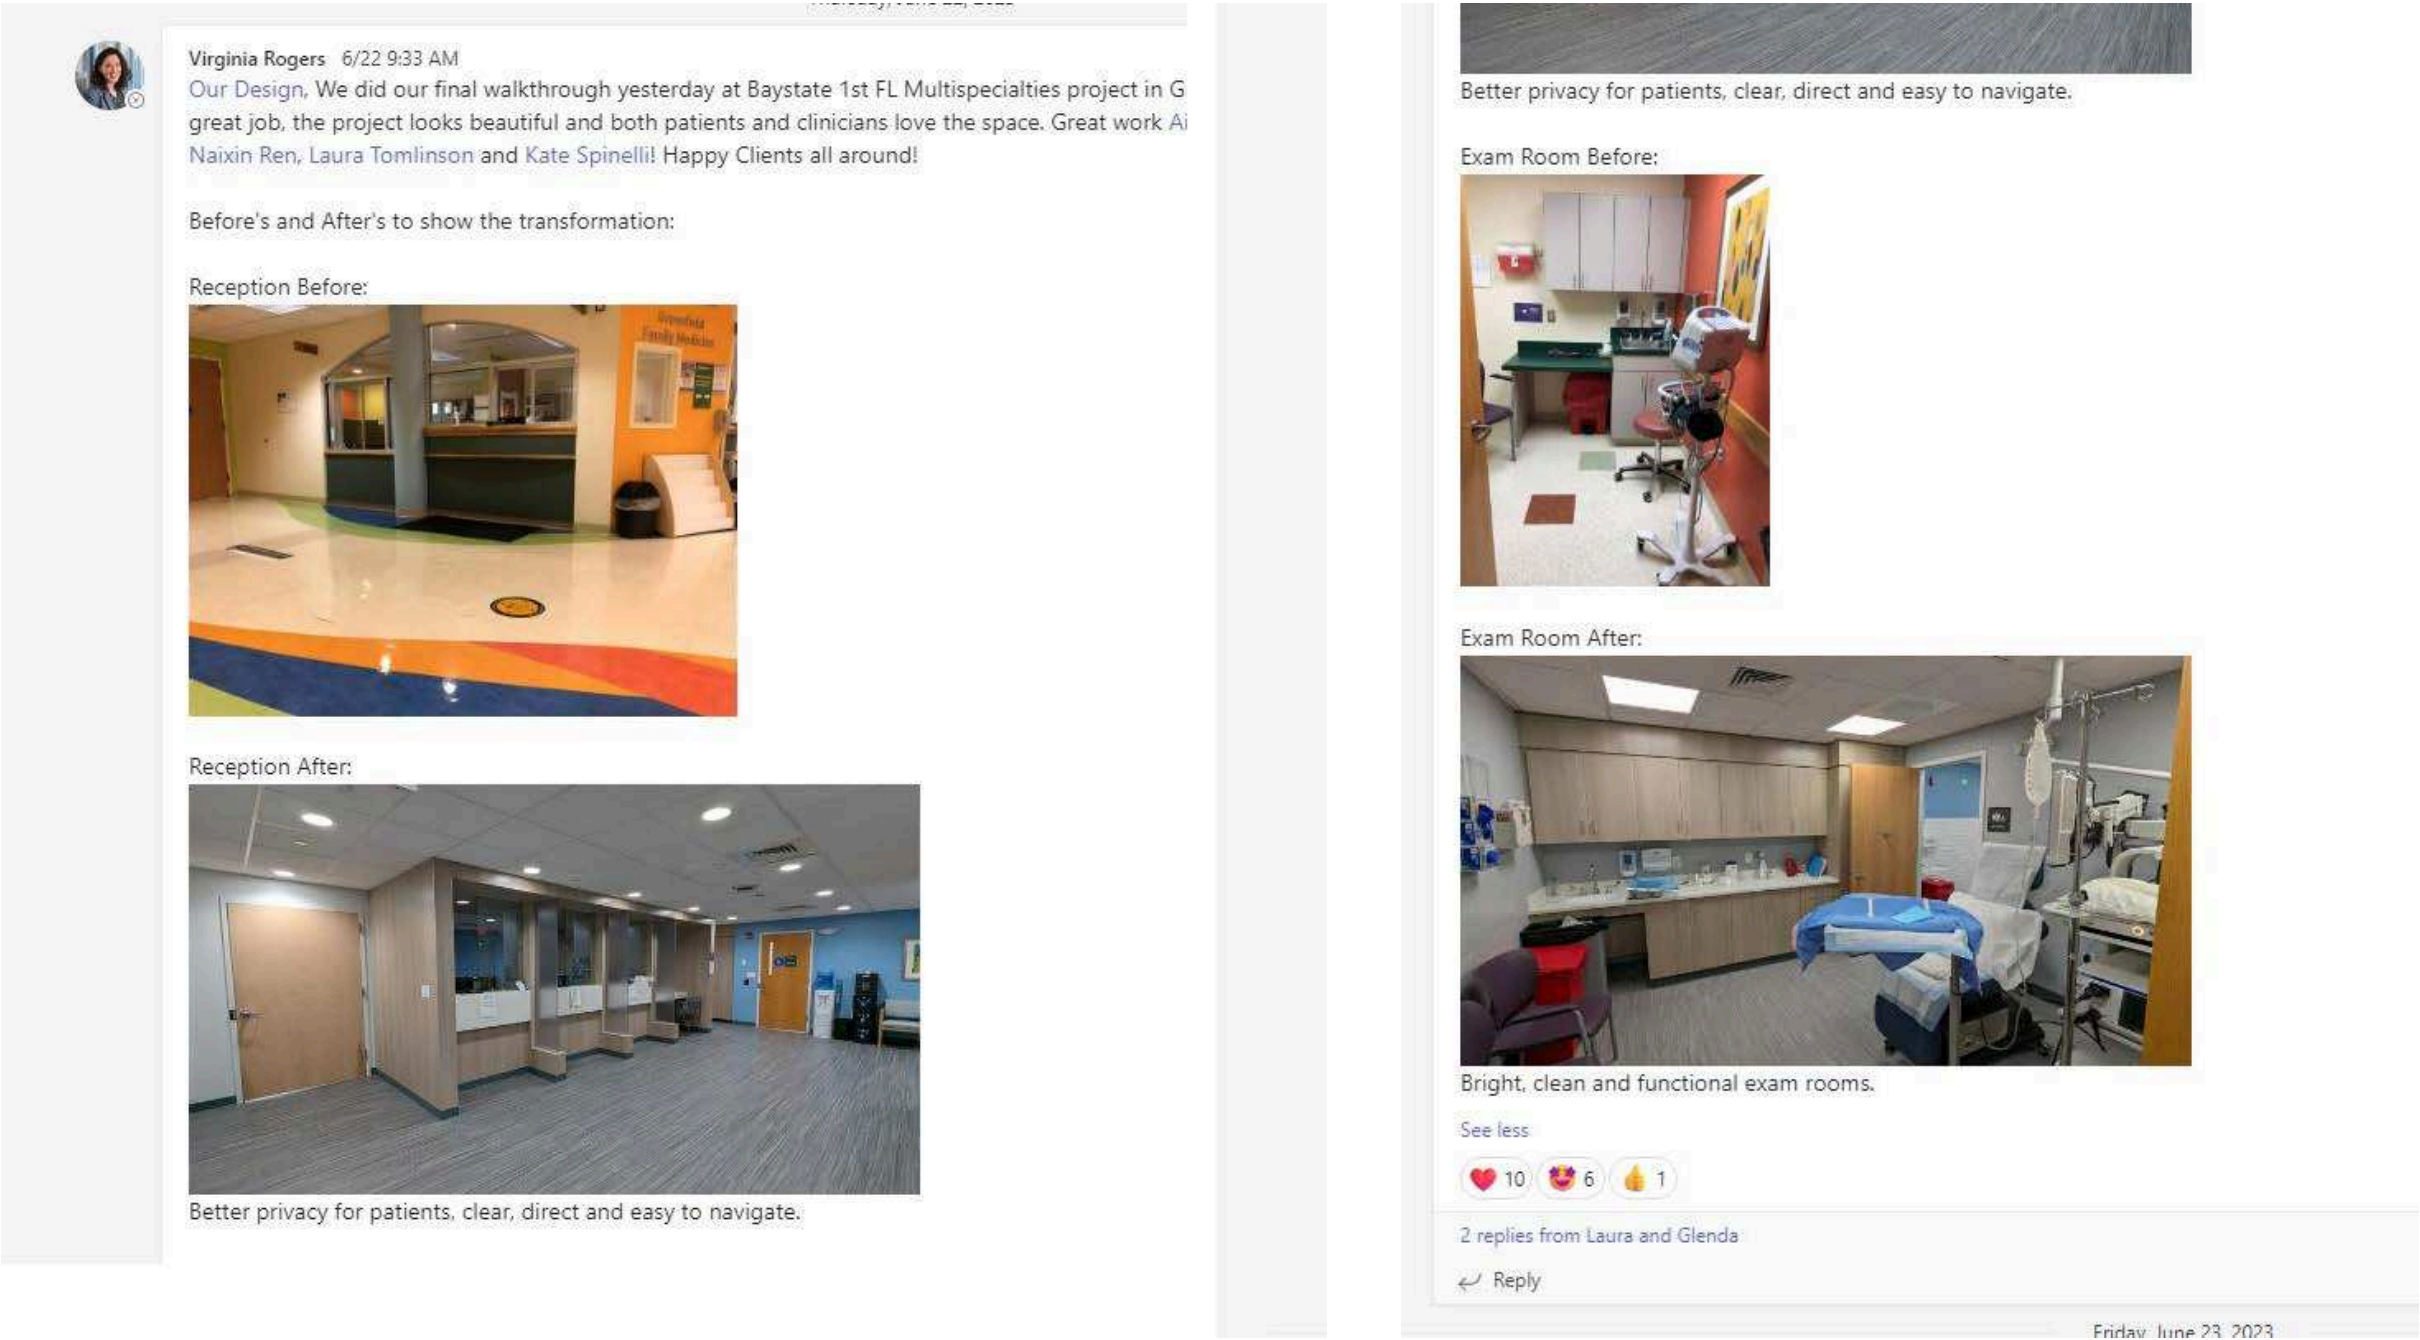

The client responded very positively to the completed renovation, noting how much more modern the space felt. They were very satisfied with the overall design direction. The finish palette developed for the project was subsequently adopted as a Baystate standard and continues to be used today.
